

8 reasons creative-finance buyers pull up the Four Paths before they pitch

01

Sub2, seller carry, 0% seconds and buydowns against real numbers

Each structure is modeled on this address's live value and rent, not a hypothetical. You see the monthly payment and cash flow each one produces.

02

The “what’s in it for the seller” is written for you

Full price on paper, a faster close, monthly income: the script frames each ask in the seller’s terms, with the opener and the ask spelled out.

03

The blended plan: three small asks that equal one big one

A 2% price reduction, a modest seller second and verified rent often reach the same math as a 6% cut, and are far more likely to get a yes. The verdict shows the blend that fits this address.

04

Risk is flagged, not hidden

Due-on-sale exposure on a subject-to is named on the card. Wraparounds and land contracts are not modeled. We analyze; you decide.

05

The verdict runs in 15 seconds, free

Paste any US address. Multi-source value, a rent estimate, the Deal Gap and six strategy snapshots come back without a signup or a card.

06

What it is worth to an investor, not a homeowner

Income Value is the price at which the rent covers taxes, insurance, vacancy, reserves and the mortgage with margin left. It sits next to market value so you see both numbers and the distance between them.

07

The Deal Gap, in dollars

Asking price minus the price that works. That one number is the offer conversation, and it is on the screen before you have spoken to anyone.

08

A negotiation script for each path

Who to call, the frame, the opener, the ask and what is in it for the seller. Print it, email it or copy it before the call. The scripts are included free.

Run the address before the seller picks up

Paste it. The Four Paths and every script are part of the free verdict, no signup and no card.
